EQUITY CROWD TRY IT AGAIN

By Associated Press.

Columbus, Ohio, December 13.—Petitions initiating a new Ohio workman's compensation act today were filed with the Secretary of State by Charles S. Gongwer of the Ohio Equity association of Cleveland. According to Gongwer, the petition contained 32,830 names, the signatures being obtained in 55 counties. Hamilton county furnished 14,969 of the names it was said. The proposed new law would allow liability insurance companies to remain in business in the state and would supplant the Green law on which the Equity association attempted to call a referendum, the petitions for which were thrown out by Secretary of State Graves, on the ground that they were fraudulent.

According to the 1913 session, laws passed by the legislature of North Dakota, it is now necessary before a transfer of property, bonds, mortgages, etc., can be recorded, for all current taxes of all kinds to be paid and notice to that effect stamped on the instrument.

REAR ADMIRAL FRANK F. FLETCHER, in charge of the Second division of the north Atlantic fleet, was fully prepared for war when the Mexican crisis became so acute that armed intervention was freely predicted in Washington. He had been in Mexican waters for six months with the Louisiana, Michigan, New Hampshire and Tacoma when four battleships of the Third division—namely, the New Jersey, Rhode Island, Nebraska and Virginia—were sent to Vera Cruz under command of Rear Admiral Clifford J. Boush. Rear Admiral Fletcher, ranking as the senior officer, assumed command of the two divisions as well as of several other warships which were sent to aid him in blockading the eastern ports of Mexico if need be. Rear Admiral Fletcher is shown here with a view of his flagship, the Louisiana, taken from the battleship Michigan in Vera Cruz harbor.

Jane Addams blamed Mayor Harison who had appointed the Board of Education, for the present situation. A letter from the mayor was read in which he said he sympathized with the women and that he had been betrayed by men he trusted.

RUMOR UNCONFIRMED BY ADMIRAL FLETCHER

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—Dispatches from Rear Admiral Fletcher from Tampico received here early today and sent late last night say the fighting was continuing there, but made no mention of the report that the American Admiral had pre-emptorily ordered the fight to stop.

The Navy Department later issued this statement:

A cablegram has been received from Rear Admiral Fletcher sent from Tampico, Mexico, 2 p. m. Friday, which conveys the information that there has been no cessation of fighting but that the fighting is not serious. Aguilar was reported to have just arrived with 3000 men and taken a position on the right bank of the river; that there were enroute to Tampico the Mexican gunboats, Vera Cruz and Progresso.

Admiral Fletcher has received information that both Federals and Constitutionalists have shot and hanged all prisoners taken, numbering about 65. Three of these men were hanged in the forenoon from within the Federal lines in full view of the shipping and city. Admiral Fletcher made formal protest in the name of humanity against the practice.

The Admiral reported that all foreign women and children were out of the city at 1 o'clock this morning, but that some men preferred to remain. He also stated that the situation was "getting worse" and that skirmishing, with the gunboat Bravo shell the position of the Constitutionalists, was continuing. Admiral Fletcher asked the Navy Department to make public announcement that all foreigners were safe and that it was impossible to send personal messages to all who have relatives. The Navy Department has engaged the Ward liner Morro Castle which will arrive at Tampico early tomorrow to receive such refugees as may wish to leave.

DESPERATE FIGHT AHEAD OF REBELS

By Associated Press.

Ojinaga, Mexico, Dec. 13.—Perched on the hills of Ojinaga which commands a sweeping view of the near-by desert and canyons, the Federal army today had its guns trained in expectation of an attack by the four or five thousand Rebels who are rapidly surrounding the town. The commanding position of the Federals, with trenches and forts fixed for resistance will make it impossible for the Rebels to storm the place without heavy loss of life.

The Rebels will have to climb almost straight up to the town and will be constantly exposed to fire except for a slight shelter afforded by bushes.

The 4000 Federals garrisoned here after their retreat from Chihuahua, have resigned themselves to the expected attack and the Rebels, under General Herrera have announced their intention of attacking from three sides to force the surrender or drive the enemy across the river into the United States.

Four more troops of U. S. Cavalry reinforced the border patrol at Presidio, Texas. The American military authorities have notified both sides that no shots must be fired across the river.

MONTEREY NEXT

By Associated Press.

Vera Cruz, Mexico, Dec. 13.—There is every indication that the city of Monterey may be attacked by the Rebels at any moment, according to dispatches from Philip C. Hann, the American Consul-General there. The telegram was received by way of Tampico and was sent from there to Vera Cruz by wireless. A considerable Federal army is believed to be concentrated at Monterey.

MERCADO MISSING

By Associated Press.

Ojinaga, Mexico, December 13.—The Federal forces were at a loss today to know what had become of General Salvador Mercado, the ranking officer of the Mexican army in the north. It was feared that he, with 1000 Federals had been intercepted by Rebels in a mountain pass at La Mula, outside of Ojinaga, and that he would be attacked by superior forces before the Rebels attack Ojinaga. Mercado left the fort here to escort in some straggling refugees.

RESCUED AMERICANS

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., December 13.—Rear Admiral Fletcher cabled from Tampico at 1 a. m. today that at 4

p. m. yesterday he had ordered all Americans out of the city and that before midnight he had transferred about 500 who were aboard the Wheeling and Tacoma to the battleships Virginia, Rhode Island and New Jersey.

WOULD RETAIN OHIO CANALS

Enlistment of Federal Government Recommended in Effort to Determine Feasibility of Converting Canals Into Cross-State Waterways From Lakes to River—Other Recommendations in the Report.

Columbus, O., Dec. 13.—The legislative canals commission which has been investigating the state's system of artificial waterways to determine a future policy, reported to Governor Cox that the canals be retained by the state and recommended the enlistment of the federal government in an effort to determine feasibility of converting them into cross-state waterways between the Great Lakes and the Ohio river, in order that unbroken shipments may be made from the Atlantic to Ohio and Mississippi river ports.

The committee deems it inadvisable for the state to attempt to use the canals for transportation purposes, rehabilitated on their original basis, and recommends that they be developed and improved for water power and industrial purposes, wherever possible. Where the canals are in such condition that rehabilitation could not be accomplished without great expense, it is recommended that they be drained.

Recommendation also is made that the superintendent of public works investigate whether the state is receiving full compensation for the rights and privileges enjoyed by the owners of hydraulic companies, electric railways, telegraph and telephone companies.

In case the federal government refuses to grant aid in determining the feasibility of cross-state deep-water canals, it is recommended that the legislature appropriate $25,000 for this purpose. A 10-foot depth is recommended for such barge canals in case they are determined upon. It also is recommended that additional funds be appropriated to protect the lakes and reservoirs, because they afford places of recreation and pleasure to thousands. It is especially urged that steps be taken to prevent sale of state lands at ridiculously low prices, as has been done in the past.

SENATOR STONE ATTACKS BUSINESS

Washington, Dec. 13.—Senator Stone (Dem., Mo.), made an attack upon several prominent New York bankers in a speech to the senate. He described A. B. Hepburn, chairman of the board of directors of the Chase National bank, as one man who had graduated from the comptroller's office into "a lynx-eyed, hard-fisted and rotund financial Pooh Bah," and Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City bank, he characterized as "sly, devilish sly." Milton E. Alles, an official of the Riggs National bank of Washington, was another against whom Senator Stone aimed his shafts.

Incidentally, the senator from Missouri brought into the debate the affairs of the Munsey Trust company and the circumstances surrounding the acquisition of the United States Trust company by it. Senator Stone charged that there was a "sinister influence that worked to undermine confidence in the currency bill." He charged Mr. Vanderlip and E. P. Davison of J. P. Morgan & Company with partial responsibility, declaring that they operated through Mr. Alles of the Riggs National bank of this city.

Senator Stone concluded: "There are bankers in this country who are the enemies of the public welfare, or at least indifferent to it, and would sacrifice the industrial interests of the country if they deemed it necessary to promote their own selfish ends."

Scenes During Recent Fighting In Northern Part of Mexico

Photos by American Press Association.

BECAUSE of President Wilson's stand opposing Provisional President Huerta of Mexico the sympathy of Americans, following the administration's lead, has lately been with the rebels. While the rebellion was in progress during Madero's regime it was just the other way. Still the methods pursued by the rebels during their recent successes in the northern part of the country have aroused condemnation. One of these pictures shows the rebels in Juarez after they captured it. With the blood lust unrestrained they shot their federal prisoners down like dogs. The other picture shows a group of rebels preparing to dynamite a train of federal soldiers.

CORN REALLY KING IN BUCKEYE STATE

No other crop produced on the Ohio farm has such a wide and diversified use as corn. It is used on the farm as a food for both man and beast. It has an important place, in some form, on the table of every town and city dweller in the state. Milk and milk has played an important part in the life of every boy and girl who has been brought up on the farm. Nearly 90 per cent of the sturdy young men of today are corn-fed. Corn is chief diet of nations today. Corn is truly King.

The Ohio Corn Boys have demonstrated the possibilities of an acre within the last two years. Just to think of it! 139 bushels of shelled corn produced on an acre. In 1912 92 boys made an average yield of over 100 bushels per acre, and 510 boys made an average yield of 85 bushels per acre. Such records as these are bound to have a decided influence on the future crop in Ohio. The trip to Washington in December, 1912, was a great success. The trip this year was still greater. Never before has such a body of farmers' boys and girls been given an educational excursion in the interest of better agriculture, better homes, better schools and better churches.

Ohio takes front rank as a corn producing state. The average yield per acre in 1913 is estimated at 38 bushels. The total production, in round numbers, is estimated at 150,000,000 bushels. The State Corn Show, which is to be held at Mansfield, Ohio, January 27-30, 1914, will be a grand roundup of the latest and best in corn production. Premiums to the extent of $1,200 will be offered on exhibits of corn, wheat, oats, soybeans, etc. Write to the Secretary, D. W. Galehouse, Wooster, Ohio for premium lists, entry blanks, etc.

MORE TROUBLE FOR FRANKFORT

The village of Frankfort has been involved in so much trouble over the issuance of bonds, building school houses and a waterworks system the following latest tangle, told by the Chillicothe Gazette, is taken as a matter of course:

"Claiming that the council, mayor and clerk of the village of Frankfort are misappropriating the funds of the village and that no proper contract was made with the firm that is now working on the new water works system, Oather M. Junk on Friday filed suit for injunction against the village of Frankfort, Noah M. Coyner and mayor, Neal P. Wisehart as clerk and Rossner, Harper and Stuart, a partnership.

"The petition states that the suit was brought to prevent the misappropriation of the funds of the village by those against whom the suit is filed. It also sets forth the fact that the contract was not legally let, that no advertising was done and that bonds to the extent of $4000 were illegally placed on sale by the mayor and clerk of the village.

"The well from which the water supply of the city is to be taken was not approved by the state health authorities as yet, although they have been there and inspected it. The company to which the contract was given is now at work and is tearing up the streets and alleys a making them unfit for travel, and Mr. Junk's attorneys went to Circleville this afternoon to bring the case before Judge Curtin of that place and ask that the Rosser, Harper and Stuart Company be restrained from continuing their work in placing their pipes on the streets of the village. Wilby G. Hyde and Elijah Cutright represent the plaintiff."

NAVY RECRUITED TO FULL STRENGTH

For the first time since the Civil war the enlisted strength of the navy has passed the 50,000 mark, the total number of enlisted men being 50,136. There has been a net gain in the enlisted complement since July 1, last, of 2068. Officials say it is expected the navy in a short time will be recruited up to its maximum strength of 51,500.

FOR DEPOSING SUPT. JOHN SHOOP AS HEAD OF THE CHICAGO PUBLIC SCHOOLS—MAYOR "ACCEPTS" RESIGNATIONS OF MEMBERS WHO PLACED THEIR RESIGNATIONS IN HIS HANDS BEFORE BEGINNING TERMS—PLAN IS TO OUST SHOOP ENTIRELY FROM CHICAGO SCHOOLS.

Chicago, Ill., December 13.—Mayor Harrison last night "accepted" the resignations of five School Board members. All resignations were dated July 18, 1911, and have been held by the city executive pending such an event as the Young-Shoop crisis. to take similar action in regard to

The Mayor said he would be pleased other members of the board were it possible. The resignation of William Rothmann, he said, would be the most desired.

The point was emphasized that every member of the board who voted against Mrs. Young would be removed, were it in Mr. Harrison's power. The five deposed members are Harry A. Lipsky, Charles O. Sethness, James B. Dibekla, Henry W. Huttmann and John C. Harding. The letters accepting the resignations were delivered at the School Board by the private secretary of the Mayor. Two of them, those of Lipsky and Huttmann, were formal notices. To the other three the Mayor paid the compliment of stating he had hoped they might be permitted to serve on their terms.

While the city executive was endeavoring to pave the way for the return of Mrs. Young, conferences and meetings were being held throughout the city with the idea of removing Mr. Shoop and reinstating Mrs. Young. The latter's friends said they would not be merely satisfied with the removal of Mr. Shoop from the superintendency, but that he must be retired to some outlying school.

In the meantime the plan to oblige Mr. Shoop to go into retirement acent the triumph of Mrs. Young depends upon one thing—the present superintendent's resignation. Mayor Harrison and others who have looked up the law admit it. Mrs. Young has made the point plain. And Mr. Shoop will not resign.

Mrs. Young today receded somewhat from her stand of Thursday, especially when she learned that the Mayor had made good his threat to remove the five members of the board. She may consent to become superintendent again if Shoop can be deposed.

CHRISTMAS COMMENTS

The baldheaded man is flattered when his little son presents him with a hairbrush.

Soldiers are never so poor at Christmas time that they cannot present arms.

The first Christmas present any man should buy is a set of receipted bills for himself from all his creditors.

The proper kind of holiday presents for men in responsible positions where nerves and patience are tried to the utmost is presence of mind.

Beginning with the glad New Year the dime museums hope to have on exhibition the man who never gave a Christmas present from a sense of duty.

The crabbed bachelor member of the family who with a spurt of generosity purchased for the children the long, resonant Christmas horns will have soon completed the task of kicking himself into the glad New Year.

A few weeks ago a woman wrote a letter to a newspaper, in which she said, "If I could get money how I would make people's hearts bound with joy!" A rich uncle presented her with $100 on Christmas day, and the seal-skin sack she bought with the money made a number of people's hearts bound with envy.

CHRISTMASTIDE IN MEXICO.

A Feast That is Celebrated For Two Weeks.

In fiesta loving Mexico Christmas is celebrated for two weeks, beginning with the 17th of December and not ending until New Year's day. The principal features of the celebration are the "posadas" and "pinatas," both very quaint and picturesque customs and entirely peculiar to Mexico.

"Posadas" in Spanish means "abiding place" or "inn" and in Mexico is applied to the nightly semireligious and entirely jolly performances which in the houses of all Mexicans last from the 17th to the 25th of December. These celebrations are called "posadas" because they are in commemoration of that night when the holy family unavailingly searched for an "abiding place" or "inn" and, unable to find such a place, sought refuge in the stable where our Lord was born.

At an early hour, on account of the clamoring children, the signal is given for the pinata breaking, and all the guests flock gayly about the bobbing clown, with the servants and small babies congregated in the background. When the assembly is complete all join hands and circle about the big, glittering toy as it swings from its hook in the ceiling. One of the children is blindfolded and placed in the center of the ring, just under the pinata; a long, light pole is handed to her, and she is told to strike carefully and "con mucha fuerza" (with much force) in the direction of the pinata.

Good nature demands that all of the children first have an opportunity to break the pinata. As they naturally are never able to do so, the clown being a tough fibered individual, the turn of the grownups comes next. One by one they are blindfolded, turned about three times and then admonished to "strike out."

Amid applause from the elders and wild yells from the children the pinata is finally located and struck at vicious.

ry. when—hey, presto!—the poor clown's gay bloomers and red and gold waistcoat are rent from top to bottom; his big sombrero is sent flying across the room, and down upon your devoted head comes a deafening rain of oranges, nuts, small candies, all sorts of small, unbreakable presents and all conceivable kinds of dainties and good things to eat.

The Universality of Christmas.

Primarily, of course, Christmas is a religious festival. In the Christian with a sincere belief in the Christ, who is the foundation rock of his religion, the words of priest and pastor, exhorting his flock to observe the day with ceremonial observances, find a fervent response. From every pulpit is told anew each year the story of him without whom Christmas had never been.

But Christmas appeals also to the nonbeliever in Christ, to the men and women who cannot subscribe conscientiously to the doctrine of his divinity. It is trite, perhaps, to say that as Christmas approaches the Christmas spirit is "in the air," but it is true none the less. "Peace and good will" pervade the air that is breathed alike by churchgoer and nonattendant.

In the big cities Christmas is celebrated by Christian and Jew and Mohammedan as well as by those with no religion. In the outermost corners of the earth, wherever men of Christian faith have borne the standard of civilization, the native heathen in intimate contact with them feel the coming of the spirit and rejoice.

It is well that this should be so, for the spirit of Christmas is the spirit of belief not only in Christ, but in one's fellow men. Every one may share in it if he will. Every one may find in the story of the life that was lived in Palestine nineteen centuries ago, of the death that was met on the cross and of the resurrection that followed, something of personal application, something of uplift.

DYNAMITE PLACED AT COMMISSIONER'S DOOR

By Associated Press.

Canton, Ohio, December 13.—Two sticks of dynamite, one at the door of the office of C. A. Dougherty, Liquor License Commissioner, and one at the door of the Stark-Tuscarawas Brewing Company were found early today. Private detectives and the police are trying to run down clews. With the dynamite at Dougherty's office was a note repeating former threats that he would be killed. The letter bore emblems of daggers and black hand. Dougherty, fearing the threats, has applied to the State License Commission for protection and has stationed special guards about his home.

Shortly before noon a mysterious box thought to be an infernal machine was found at the entrance of the Liquor License Commission office. It was addressed to Dougherty. Neither Dougherty nor Mr. Witter, the other license board member were in the office at the time. The package was turned over to the police who are trying to devise a safe way to open it.

According to Gongwer, the petition contained 32,830 names, the signatures being obtained in 55 counties. Hamilton county furnished 14,969 of the names it was said. The proposed new law would allow liability insurance companies to remain in business in the state and would supplant the Green law on which the Equity association attempted to call a referendum, the petitions for which were thrown out by Secretary of State Graves, on the ground that they were fraudulent.

REAR ADMIRAL FRANK F. FLETCHER, in charge of the Second division of the north Atlantic fleet, was fully prepared for war when the Mexican crisis became so acute that armed intervention was freely predicted in Washington. He had been in Mexican waters for six months with the Louisiana, Michigan, New Hampshire and Tacoma when four battleships of the Third division—namely, the New Jersey, Rhode Island, Nebraska and Virginia—were sent to Vera Cruz under command of Rear Admiral Clifford J. Boush. Rear Admiral Fletcher, ranking as the senior officer, assumed command of the two divisions as well as of several other warships which were sent to aid him in blockading the eastern ports of Mexico if need be. A letter from the mayor was read in which he said he sympathized with the women and that he had been betrayed by men he trusted.

RUMOR UNCONFIRMED BY ADMIRAL FLETCHER

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—Dispatches from Rear Admiral Fletcher at Tampico received here early today and sent late last night say the fighting was continuing there, but made no mention of the report that the American Admiral had preemptorily ordered the fight to stop.

The Navy Department later issued this statement:

A cablegram has been received from Rear Admiral Fletcher sent from Tampico, Mexico, 2 p. m. Friday, which conveys the information that there has been no cessation of fighting but that the fighting is not serious. Aguilar was reported to have just arrived with 3000 men and taken position on the right bank of the river; that there were enroute to Tampico the Mexican gunboats, Vera Cruz and Progresso.

Admiral Fletcher has received information that both Federals and Constitutionalists have shot and hanged all prisoners taken, numbering about 65. Three of these men were hanged in the forenoon from within the Federal lines in full view of the shipping and city. Admiral Fletcher made formal protest in the name of humanity against the practice.

The Admiral reported that all foreign women and children were out of the city at 1 o'clock this morning, but that some men preferred to remain. He also stated that the situation was "getting worse" and that skirmishing, with the gunboat Bravo shell the position of the Constitutionalists, was continuing. Admiral Fletcher asked the Navy Department to make public announcement that all foreigners were safe and that it was impossible to send personal messages to all who have relatives. The Navy Department has engaged the Ward liner Morro Castle which will arrive at Tampico early tomorrow to receive such refugees as may wish to leave.

DESPERATE FIGHT AHEAD OF REBELS

By Associated Press.

Ojinaga, Mexico, Dec. 13.—Perched on the hills of Ojinaga which commands a sweeping view of the nearby desert and canyons, the Federal army today had its guns trained in expectation of an attack by the four or five thousand Rebels who are rapidly surrounding the town. The commanding position of the Federals, with trenches and forts fixed for resistance will make it impossible for the Rebels to storm the place without heavy loss of life.

The Rebels will have to climb almost straight up to the town and will be constantly exposed to fire except for a slight shelter afforded by bushes.

The 4000 Federals garrisoned here after their retreat from Chihuahua, have resigned themselves to the expected attack and the Rebels, under General Herrera have announced their intention of attacking from three sides to force the surrender or drive the enemy across the river into the United States.

Four more troops of U. S. Cavalry reinforced the border patrol at Presidio, Texas. The American military authorities have notified both sides that no shots must be fired across the river.

MONTEREY NEXT

By Associated Press.

Hann, the American Consul-General there. The telegram was received by way of Tampico and was sent from there to Vera Cruz by wireless. A considerable Federal army is believed to be concentrated at Monterey.

MERCADO MISSING

By Associated Press.

Ojinaga, Mexico, December 13.—The Federal forces were at a loss today to know what had become of General Salvador Mercado, the ranking officer of the Mexican army in the north. It was feared that he, with 1000 Federals had been intercepted by Rebels in a mountain pass at La Mina, outside of Ojinaga, and that he would be attacked by superior forces before the Rebels attack Ojinaga. Mercado left the fort here to escort in some straggling refugees.

A Man Can Earn a Million

A man can really earn a million dollars in a life-time; can really earn $30,000 a year by actual work for a period of thirty-three and a third years—so vouches Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan, in an address this week. Mr. Bryan adds to this admission that "Man does not work alone. He works in conjunction with others, and, therefore, an intelligent man should realize his relations to society. How much can a man honestly collect from society? Only a sum that barely measures the services he renders to society."

Far beyond man's ability to amass money, Secretary Bryan places his willingness to render service.

"What the world needs is men who will give themselves to society, not men who amass money to give it away when they die."

The Secretary of State declared in no uncertain language, his belief that Thomas Jefferson and Abraham Lincoln rendered services to the world that are worth immeasurably more than the wealth left by the richest American.

Not but that the men of great wealth have been public benefactors. Immense good has been accomplished through the vast fortunes left to various philanthropies, to educational interests and charities, but the very men who left these fortunes, however wisely bequeathed, might in many cases, have done so much more by the addition of personal service.

Why are so many fortunes allowed to accumulate idly through the years, until the eternal summons which comes to each in time, liberates them for usefulness?

Why are the men who have the ability and opportunity to amass these fortunes willing to leave the spending to other hands?

There is so much waiting to be done in the world; there are so many needs in great world movements; there is so much ambition stagnated from lack of opportunity; there are possible attainments meaning life and health—and all handicapped by the lack of money—large sums of money.

Each passing day counts.

It is today that children are being molded into men and women; it is today that activities and philanthropies are unable to do what they wish from lack of means; it is today that possibilities remain only possibilities from lack of proper support.

And yet in the face of today's crying calls men treasure their wealth for future giving!

Much good as it may do later, it will do more good now.

Today it may give opportunity to eager youth who through it will be able to add his quota to the world's vital work long before the millionaire's will is read.

Today it may open avenues to recovered health, to restored faculties, to rejuvenated activities, and postponed, might be too late.

And the man who can give while he lives, who can see the results and thank God that he has been more than a mere cog in the world's machinery; the man who is able to enrich society and all its relations, by the giving of himself as well as his money—how much more he has lived; how much greater is his own capacity for human love and sympathy and all that really makes life worth while.

American College Students Are Not Putting Enough Energy Into Study

By Professor ELMER E. BROWN, Chancellor of New York University

IN MY OPINION THERE ARE FAR TOO MANY STUDENTS WHO ARE DILETTANTS, AND THE GENERAL ATMOSPHERE OF DILETTANTISM IS TOO PREVALENT. TOO MANY STUDENTS ARE GETTING FLABBY.

Before I go any further I want to make sure that I will not be misunderstood. I do not think that there is even one American university where dilettantism and flabbiness are the dominant characteristics. But these characteristics are EXISTENT AMONG A CONSIDERABLE PERCENTAGE OF THE STUDENT BODY in virtually all our universities. Even the western state universities now possess their dilettants. ANY COLLEGES WHICH HAVE RICH MEN'S SONS HAVE DILETTANTISM, although it is not, of course, confined merely to the sons of the wealthy.

A definition cannot be given in a word, because dilettantism is rather elusive. But it may be said that the college dilettant is a student with a superficial attitude of mind. He is one who SEEKS IN LEARNING HERE INTELLECTUAL ENJOYMENT. He does not get down to study with the stern intent of mastering a subject or a book; he DOES NOT PUT HIMSELF TO SEVERE STRAIN. He is rather FRIVOLOUS IN HIS WORK; is not determined, not persistent.

THERE MAY ALSO BE SAID TO BE SOMETHING OF INTELLECTUAL SNOBBISHNESS IN THE ATTITUDE OF THE DILETTANT.

Poetry For Today

AN OLD TIME CHRISTMAS.

T HE damsel donned her kirtle sheer. The hall was dressed with holly green. Forth to the wood did merry men go.

To gather in the mistletoe. Then opened wide the baron's hall To vassal, tenant, serf and all. Power laid his rod of rule aside, And ceremony doffed his pride. The heir, with roses in his shoes, That night might village partner chuse; The lord underdogging share The vulgar game of post and pair. All hailed with uncontrolled delight And general voice the happy night That to the cottage as the crown Brought tidings of salvation down. The fire with well dried logs supplied Went roaring up the chimney wide. The huge hall table's oaken face, Scrubbed till it shone, the day to grace, Bore then upon its massive board No mark to part the squire and lord. Then was brought in the lusty brawns By old blue coated serving man; Then the grim boar's head frowned on high.

Crested with bay and rosemary Well can the green garbed ranger tell How when and where the monster fell; What dogs before his death he tore And all the baiting of the boar. The wassail round in good brown bowls, Garnished with ribbons, blithely trowls. There the huge sirloin reeked; hard by turn porridge stood and Christmas pie. Nor failed old Scotland to produce At such high tide her savory goose. Then came the merry maskers in And carols roared with blithesome din. If unmelodious was the song Twas a hearty note and strong. Who lists may in their mumming see Traces of ancient mystery.

White shirts supplied the masquerade, And smutted cheeks the visors made. But, oh, what maskers richly dight Can boast of bosoms half so light? England was merry England when Old Christmas brought his sports again. Twas Christmas broached the mightiest ale;

Twas Christmas told the merriest tale.

A Christmas gambol oft would cheer The poor man's heart through half the year.

—Sir Walter Scott.

ECCENTRIC BUTCHER

New York, Dec. 13.—Details of the manner in which Anna Aumuller met her death at the hands of Hans Schmidt, the priest, were told to the jury at his trial for murder. Three witnesses were heard, including Dr. Arnold Leo, who was Schmidt's physician. Dr. Leo said he had treated Schmidt, who complained of severe pains in the head. He thought the priest at least eccentric. He advised Schmidt against marrying Anna, saying the latter was not his social or mental equal.

Two police witnesses followed and gave damaging testimony in the form of a confession made by Schmidt the night of his arrest. Schmidt failed to show the slightest interest in the proceedings. The knife and saw used were offered in evidence. Throughout the confession made to the police Schmidt contended that his act had been directed by St. Elizabeth and that he had killed Anna because he loved her.

Special National Republican Convention, To Be Held Next Year, Favorable by Members of the National Republican Congressional Campaign Committee — The Present Plan of Apportionment.

Washington, Dec. 13.—The Republican national congressional campaign committee went as record here as favoring a special national convention of the Republican party next year and endorse three plans as suggestions for reapportionment of delegate representation to future conventions.

It was resolved by the committee, called together by its chairman, Representative Woods of Iowa, that in its judgment "A special national convention of the Republican party should be held as soon as practicable, for the purpose of taking action relative to the apportionment of delegates to the national nomination conventions of the party; to the unit of representation; to the full recognition of the primary laws of the various states pertaining to the election of delegates and members of the national committee, and the time when the latter shall take office and to such other matters as may seem desirable."

This resolution will be submitted to the Republican national committee, which meets here next Tuesday, together with the plans suggested for reapportionment of the delegates to national conventions.

The present plan of apportionment of delegates, based on population, provides for four delegates-at-large in congress and two delegates from each congressional district. The present delegate representation in a national convention is 1,062.

Under the reapportionment scheme and the alternate suggested, representation from the southern states would be diminished and in some of the other states it would be increased. For example, under plan No. 1, Alabama would be reduced from 24 to 15 delegates; Arkansas from 18 to 12; Georgia from 28 to 18; South Carolina from 18 to 11, and other southern states accordingly. New York would be increased from 90 to 102; Massachusetts from 36 to 44; Illinois from 58 to 61, and so on.

TO END EXECUTIONS

Cleveland, O., Dec. 13.—Mayor Newton D. Baker asserted that the execution of Frank Kinney at Columbus will be the last in Ohio if he can have his way. He said that he will at once commence a fight to obtain a repeal of the capital punishment statute, that he will initiate the necessary legislation himself, if need be, and will take the stump to support the movement. The mayor was among those who made an eleventh-hour appeal to Governor Cox to reprieve Kinney.

LIMITS ORGIES

Cleveland, O., Dec. 13.—Restaurant and cafe owners who have reaped rich New Year's harvest in past years will experience a falling off in business this year. Chief of Police Rewe stated that watch parties will be allowed to remain at their tables not more than 15 or 20 minutes after midnight upon the advent of 1914. The ordering of champagne before the midnight hour, to be gurgled during the early hours of the morning, will not be permitted.

CROWDING JOHN D.

Washington, Dec. 13.—Secretary Bryan said that so far as he knew Minister Hale at San Jose, Costa Rica, had made no representations to the Costa Rican government regarding a contract for exploitation of oil lands made by that government with the Pearson firm of London. This is the Cowdray firm, which has large oil concessions in Mexico and which sought similar concessions in Colombia and Ecuador.

San Francisco, Dec. 13.—Francis J. Heney will run for governor of California if Governor Johnson decides to be a candidate for the United States senate to succeed Senator Perkins. He takes this position, he says, on his own initiative. Whatever Johnson decides, Heney will be a candidate either for the senate or the governor's chair until the polls close.

TOWN VOTES DRY

M'CANN PHOTO

IN THE MOVIES

Columbus, O., Dec. 13.—The state agricultural commission has adopted a policy of co-operation with cities which are interested in agricultural activities in their communities, whereby information desired by farmers may be furnished. The plan is devised as a means of aiding the farmer to increase the productivity of his farm, to market his products and thereby to decrease the cost of living. If the farmer finds that the roads are in such condition that he can not get his crop to market, the chamber of commerce will get after the county commissioners and have the roads mended.

This resolution will be submitted to the Republican national committee, which meets here next Tuesday, together with the plans suggested for reapportionment of the delegates to national conventions.

The present plan of apportionment of delegates, based on population, provides for four delegates-at-large in congress and two delegates from each congressional district. The present delegate representation in a national convention is 1,062.

WOULD RETAIN OHIO CANALS

Enlistment of Federal Government Recommended in Effort to Determine Feasibility of Converting Canals Into Cross-State Waterways From Lakes to River—Other Recommendations in the Report.

Columbus, O., Dec. 13.—The legislative canals commission which has been investigating the state's system of artificial waterways to determine a future policy, reported to Governor Cox that the canals be retained by the state and recommended the enlistment of the federal government in an effort to determine feasibility of converting them into cross-state waterways between the Great Lakes and the Ohio river, in order that unbroken shipments may be made from the Atlantic to Ohio and Mississippi river ports.

The committee deems it inadvisable for the state to attempt to use the canals for transportation purposes, rehabilitated on their original basis, and recommends that they be developed and improved for water power and industrial purposes, wherever possible. Where the canals are in such condition that rehabilitation could not be accomplished without great expense, it is recommended that they be drained.

Recommendation also is made that the superintendent of public works investigate whether the state is receiving full compensation for the rights and privileges enjoyed by the owners of hydraulic companies, electric railways, telegraph and telephone companies.

In case the federal government refuses to grant aid in determining the feasibility of cross-state deep-water canals, it is recommended that the legislature appropriate $25,000 for this purpose. A 10-foot depth is recommended for such barge canals in case they are determined upon. It also is recommended that additional funds be appropriated to protect the lakes and reservoirs, because they afford places of recreation and pleasure to thousands. It is especially urged that steps be taken to prevent sale of state lands at ridiculously low prices, as has been done in the past.

SENATOR STONE ATTACKS BUSINESS

Washington, Dec. 13.—Senator Stone (Dem., Mo.), made an attack upon several prominent New York bankers in a speech to the senate. He described A. B. Hepburn, chairman of the board of directors of the Chase National bank, as one man who had graduated from the comptroller's office into "a lynx-eyed, hard-fisted and rotund financial Pooh Bah," and Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City bank, he characterized as "sly, devilish sly." Milton E. Alles, an official of the Riggs National bank of Washington, was another against whom Senator Stone aimed his shafts. Incidentally, the senator from Missouri brought into the debate the affairs of the Munsey Trust company and the circumstances surrounding the acquisition of the United States Trust company by it. Senator Stone charged that there was a "sinister influence that worked to undermine confidence in the currency bill." He charged Mr. Vanderlip and E. P. Davison of J. P. Morgan & Company with partial responsibility, declaring that they operated through Mr. Alles of the Riggs National bank of this city.

Senator Stone concluded: "There are bankers in this country who are the enemies of the public welfare, or at least indifferent to it, and would sacrifice the industrial interests of the country if they deemed it necessary to promote their own selfish ends."

BECAUSE of President Wilson's stand opposing Provisional President Huerta of Mexico the sympathy of Americans, following the administration's lead, has lately been with the rebels. While the rebellion was in progress during Madero's regime it was just the other way. Still the methods pursued by the rebels during their recent successes in the northern part of the country have aroused condemnation. One of these pictures shows the rebels in Juarez after they captured it. With the blood lust unrestrained they shot their federal prisoners down like dogs. The other picture shows a group of rebels preparing to dynamite a train of federal soldiers.

CORN REALLY KING IN BUCKEYE STATE

No other crop produced on the Ohio farm has such a wide and diversified use as corn. It is used on the farm as a food for both man and beast. It has an important place, in some form, on the table of every town and city dweller in the state. Milk and milk has played an important part in the life of every boy and girl who has been brought up on the farm. Nearly 90 per cent of the sturdy young men of today are corn-fed. Corn is chief diet of nations today. Corn is truly King.

The Ohio Corn Boys have demonstrated the possibilities of an acre within the last two years. Just to think of it! 139 bushels of shelled corn produced on an acre. In 1912 92 boys made an average yield of over 100 bushels per acre, and 510 boys made an average yield of 85 bushels per acre. Such records as these are bound to have a decided influence on the future crop in Ohio. The trip to Washington in December, 1912, was a great success. The trip this year was still greater. Never before has such a body of farmers boys and girls been given an educational excursion in the interest of better agriculture, better homes, better schools and better churches.

Ohio takes front rank as a corn producing state. The average yield per acre in 1913 is estimated at 38 bushels. The total production, in round numbers, is estimated at 150,000,000 bushels. The State Corn Show, which is to be held at Mansfield, Ohio, January 27-30, 1914, will be a grand roundup of the latest and best in corn production. Premiums to the extent of $1,200 will be offered on exhibits of corn, wheat, oats, soybeans, etc. Write to the Secretary, D. W. Galehouse, Wooster, Ohio for premium lists, entry blanks, etc.

MORE TROUBLE FOR FRANKFORT

The village of Frankfort has been involved in so much trouble over the issuance of bonds, building school houses and a waterworks system the following latest tangle, told by the Chillicothe Gazette, is taken as a matter of course:

"Claiming that the council, mayor and clerk of the village of Frankfort are misappropriating the funds of the village and that no proper contract was made with the firm that is now working on the new water works system, Oather M. Junk on Friday filed suit for injunction against the village of Frankfort, Noah M. Coyer and mayor, Neal P. Wischart as clerk and Rossner, Harper and Stuart, a partnership.

"The petition states that the suit was brought to prevent the misappropriation of the funds of the village by those against whom the suit is filed. It also sets forth the fact that the contract was not legally let, in that no advertising was done and that bonds to the extent of $4000 were illegally placed on sale by the mayor and clerk of the village.

"The well from which the water supply of the city is to be taken was not approved by the state health authorities as yet, although they have been there and inspected it. The company to which the contract was given is now at work and is tearing up the streets and alleys and making them unfit for travel, and Mr. Junk's attorneys went to Circleville this afternoon to bring the case before Judge Curtin of that place and ask that the Rosser, Harper and Stuart Company be restrained from continuing their work in placing their pipes on the streets of the village. Wilby G. Hyde and Elijah Cutright represent the plaintiff."

NAVY RECRUITED TO FULL STRENGTH

For the first time since the Civil war the enlisted strength of the navy has passed the 50,000 mark, the total number of enlisted men being 50,136. There has been a net gain in the enlisted complement since July 1, last, of 2068. Officials say it is expected the navy in a short time will be recruited up to its maximum strength of 51,500.

MACHINERY IS SET IN MOTION

FOR DEPOSING SUPT. JOHN SHOOP AS HEAD OF THE CHICAGO PUBLIC SCHOOLS—MAYOR "ACCEPTS" RESIGNATIONS OF MEMBERS WHO PLACED THEIR RESIGNATIONS IN HIS HANDS BEFORE BEGINNING TERMS—PLAN IS TO OUST SHOOP ENTIRELY FROM CHICAGO SCHOOLS.

Chicago, Ill., December 13.—Mayor Harrison last night "accepted" the resignations of five School Board members. All resignations were dated July 18, 1911, and have been held by the city executive pending such an event as the Young-Shoop crisis. The Mayor said he would be pleased other members of the board were it possible. The resignation of William Rothmann, he said, would be the most desired.

The point was emphasized that every member of the board who voted against Mrs. Young would be removed, were it in Mr. Harrison's power.

The five deposed members are Harry A. Lipsky, Charles O. Sethness, James B. Dibelka, Henry W. Huttmann and John C. Harding. The letters accepting the resignations were delivered at the School Board by the private secretary of the Mayor. Two of them, those of Lipsky and Huttmann, were formal notices. To the other three the Mayor paid the compliment of stating he had hoped they might be permitted to serve on their terms.

While the city executive was endeavoring to pave the way for the return of Mrs. Young, conferences and meetings were being held throughout the city with the idea of removing Mr. Shoop and reinstating Mrs. Young. The latter's friends said they would not be merely satisfied with the removal of Mr. Shoop from the superintendency, but that he must be retired to some outlying school.

In the meantime the plan to oblige Mr. Shoop to go into retirement averted the triumph of Mrs. Young depends upon one thing—the present superintendent's resignation. Mayor Harrison and others who have looked up the law admit it. Mrs. Young has made the point plain. And Mr. Shoop will not resign.

Mrs. Young today receded somewhat from her stand of Thursday, when Mr. Shoop to go into retirement averted the triumph of Mrs. Young depends upon one thing—the present superintendent's resignation. Mayor Harrison and others who have looked up the law admit it. Mrs. Young has made the point plain. And Mr. Shoop will not resign.

New York, Dec. 13.—The police have an excellent description of the young man who sent the package containing an infernal machine through a branch office of the Adams Express company and which was delivered to the O. When—hey, presto!—the poor clown's gay bloomers and red and gold waistcoat are rent from top to bottom, his big sombrero is sent flying across the room, and down upon your devoted head comes a deafening rain of oranges, nuts, small candies, all sorts of small, unbreakable presents and all conceivable kinds of dulces and good things to eat.

The Universality of Christmas.

Primarily, of course, Christmas is a religious festival. In the Christian with a sincere belief in the Christ, who is the foundation rock of his religion, the words of priest and pastor, exhorting his flock to observe the day with ceremonial observances, find a fervent response. From every pulpit is told anew each year the story of him without whom Christmas had never been.

But Christmas appeals also to the nonbeliever in Christ, to the men and women who cannot subscribe conscientiously to the doctrine of his divinity. It is trite, perhaps, to say that as Christmas approaches the Christmas spirit is "in the air," but it is true none the less. "Peace and good will" pervade the air that is breathed alike by churchgoer and nonattendant.

In the big cities Christmas is celebrated by Christian and Jew and Mohammedan as well as by those with no religion. In the outermost corners of the earth, wherever men of Christian faith have borne the standard of civilization, the native heathen in intimate contact with them feel the coming of the spirit and rejoice.

It is well that this should be so, for the spirit of Christmas is the spirit of belief not only in Christ, but in one's fellow men. Every one may find in it if he will. Every one may find in the story of the life that was lived in Palestine nineteen centuries ago, of the death that was met on the cross and of the resurrection that followed, something of personal application, something of uplift.

At an early hour, on account of the clamoring children, the signal is given for the piñata breaking, and all the guests flock gayly about the bobbing clown, with the servants and small babies congregated in the background. When the assembly is complete all join hands and circle about the big, glittering toy as it swings from its hook in the ceiling. One of the children is blindfolded and placed in the center of the ring, just under the piñata; a long, light pole is handed to her, and she is told to strike carefully and "con mucha fuerza" (with much force) in the direction of the piñata.

Good nature demands that all of the children first have an opportunity to break the piñata. As they naturally are never able to do so, the clown being a tough fibered individual, the turn of the grownups comes next. One by one they are blindfolded, turned about three times and then admonished to "strike out."

Amid applause from the elders and wild yells from the children the piñata is finally located and struck at viciously.

INTERESTING REPORT ON RELIGIOUS CENSUS

PARTIAL REPORT SHOWS THAT OUT OF 3819 PERSONS IN WASHINGTON, 2030 ARE MEMBERS OF CHURCHES AND GREAT MANY OF THE OTHERS ARE INCLINED TOWARD ONE OF THE VARIOUS CHURCHES—FEW FAILED TO OBTAIN INFORMATION DESIRED.

	Members	Preference
Presbyterian	456	113
Methodist	844	320
Baptist	167	83
Christian	262	150
Catholic	75	7
Other denominations	226
Non-members	1116
Total	2030	1789

Considerable interest attaches to the result of the religious census taken of this city first of the week, when a large number of persons made a house to house canvass of the city with a view to ascertaining the denomination of all residents of the city who are over 12 years of age.

Partial figures of the result show that as far as the work of compiling the information has progressed, there are 2030 church members and 1789 non-church members listed in the city. The full report will not be ready until first of the week.

Owing to the fact that several of those engaged in the canvass neglected to obtain the desired information, the result will not be accurate, but will be ample for a working basis in the coming simultaneous religious campaign.

BIG WEEK FOR JEFFERSONVILLE

JANUARY 13TH TO 17TH TO WITNESS HOLDING OF ANNUAL CORN SHOW, FARMERS INSTITUTE, POULTRY SHOW AND DOMESTIC SCIENCE EXHIBITS—COMMITTEES WORKING HARD FOR GREATEST WEEK IN "JEFF'S" HISTORY.

The various committees are now planning to make the week of January 12th the greatest in Jeffersonville's history, for during that week the Farmer's annual institute, the big corn show, poultry show and domestic science exhibition will be held in the hustling town, and everyone is standing on tip-toe with expectation.

There will be something doing from January 13th to and including the 17th, and big crowds are expected every day, and Jefferson hall will be taxed to its capacity and the show will probably cause an overflow into some other building.

The best exhibition of high class corn ever shown in the county and one of the best ever shown in central Ohio, is scheduled for the "big week".

The show will not be confined to Jefferson township alone. Jefferson township has outgrown that, and since some of the best corn in the world is produced there, some of the classes will be open to all. Here is a chance for other townships to walk in and see if they can outclass Jefferson.

Those in charge of the poultry exhibition are now working hard to make the poultry exhibit one of the best ever shown in the county. And they say they are going to make it the best. They have a habit of carrying out their plans at Jeffersonville.

Then comes the domestic science exhibit. Jeffersonville and Jefferson township women have long since imbued of the enthusiasm that makes the corn shows, farmers' institutes and other enterprises such decided successes, and their line of exhibits will be greater than ever.

But the Farmers' Institute will not be neglected for the other attractions. A good committee is looking after it, and a splendid program is being outlined, while two speakers classed among the best in the state, will be sent by the state.

TRIAL POSTPONED UNTIL NEXT WEEK

Word from Mr. Will Irwin, the well known author and magazine writer, who wrote the article which brought about the big damage suit of William J. Conners against Colliers' Weekly, states that the trial which was to have come up Monday of this week has been postponed until Monday of next week, and that he believes another postponement will be taken until after the holidays.

Mr. Irwin, who is a close personal friend to Hugh C. Weir, of this city, also writes that the attorneys and detectives in the case are still gathering evidence, and that Attorney Bryan is in Montreal, Canada, working up evidence.

The information also comes from Buffalo that the suits growing out of the arrest of Mr. Weir in Buffalo, have been filed. Recent developments may result in an increase in the amount of the damages asked, or the filing of a new suit against Chief Regan.

HAS RHEUMATISM AND IS NO BETTER

C. D. Snider, the baker, formerly of this city, now in Xenia, is confined to his home with a severe attack of rheumatism, from which he has been suffering for some time.

He is taking special treatment for the affliction with the hope of speedy relief. It was because of chronic rheumatism that he disposed of his bakery here, expecting to go to another climate. However, about that time he was apparently cured of the affliction, and decided to stay in Ohio Regan.

The first report was that he was suffering from blood poison.

BARN BURNS

OTHERS DAMAGED

Fire broke out in a barn owned by L. Eddy, on South Fayette street, Saturday morning between nine and ten o'clock, and quickly spread to several adjoining barns and sheds.

Some delay resulted in calling the fire department, but the blaze was easily gotten under control when the department arrived and started two streams of water to playing on the buildings.

The Eddy barn, immediately back of the residence occupied by Peter Brown, was consumed, and the other buildings were damaged to some extent.

The loss is partly covered by insurance.

A Man Can Earn a Million

A man can really earn a million dollars in a life-time; can really earn $30,000 a year by actual work for a period of thirty-three and a third years—so vouches Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan, in an address this week. Mr. Bryan adds to this admission that "Man does not work alone. He works in conjunction with others, and, therefore, an intelligent man should realize his relations to society. How much can a man honestly collect from society? Only a sum that barely measures the services he renders to society."

Far beyond man's ability to amass money, Secretary Bryan places his willingness to render service.

"What the world needs is men who will give themselves to society, not men who amass money to give it away when they die."

The Secretary of State declared in no uncertain language, his belief that Thomas Jefferson and Abraham Lincoln rendered services to the world that are worth immeasurably more than the wealth left by the richest American.

Not but that the men of great wealth have been public benefactors. Immense good has been accomplished through the vast fortunes left to various philanthropies, to educational interests and charities, but the very men who left these fortunes, however wisely bequeathed, might in many cases, have done so much more by the addition of personal service.

Why are so many fortunes allowed to accumulate idly through the years, until the eternal summons which comes to each in time, liberates them for usefulness?

Why are the men who have the ability and opportunity to amass these fortunes willing to leave the spending to other hands?

There is so much waiting to be done in the world; there are so many needs in great world movements; there is so much ambition stagnated from lack of opportunity; there are possible attainments meaning life and health—and all handicapped by the lack of money—large sums of money.

Each passing day counts.

It is today that children are being molded into men and women; it is today that activities and philanthropies are unable to do what they wish from lack of means; it is today that possibilities remain only possibilities from lack of proper support.

And yet in the face of today's crying calls men treasure their wealth for future giving!

Much good as it may do later, it will do more good now.

Today it may give opportunity to eager youth who through will be able to add his quota to the world's vital work long before the millionaire's will is read.

Today it may open avenues to recovered health, to restored faculties, to rejuvenated activities, and postponed, might be too late.

And the man who can give while he lives, who can see the results and thank God that he has been more than a mere cog in the world's machinery; the man who is able to enrich society and all its relations, by the giving of himself as well as his money—how much more he has lived; how much greater is his own capacity for human love and sympathy and all that really makes life worth while.

American College Students Are Not Putting Enough Energy Into Study

By Professor ELMER E. BROWN, Chancellor of New York University

IN MY OPINION THERE ARE FAR TOO MANY STUDENTS WHO ARE DILETTANTS, AND THE GENERAL ATMOSPHERE OF DILETTANTISM IS TOO PREVALENT. TOO MANY STUDENTS ARE GETTING FLABBY.

Before I go any further I want to make sure that I will not be misunderstood. I do not think that there is even one American university where dilettantism and flabbiness are the dominant characteristics. But these characteristics are EXISTENT AMONG A CONSIDERABLE PERCENTAGE OF THE STUDENT BODY in virtually all our universities. Even the western state universities now possess their dilettants. ANY COLLEGES WHICH HAVE RICH MEN'S SONS HAVE DILETTANTISM, although it is not, of course, confined merely to the sons of the wealthy.

A definition cannot be given in word, because dilettantism is rather elusive. But it may be said that the college dilettant is a student with a superficial attitude of mind. He is one who SEEKS IN LEARNING PURE INTELLECTUAL ENJOYMENT. He does not get down to study with the stern intent of mastering a subject or a book; he DOES NOT PUT HIMSELF TO SEVERE STRAIN.

He is rather FRIVOLOUS IN HIS WORK; is not determined, not

THERE MAY ALSO BE SAID TO BE SOMETHING OF INTELLECTUAL SNOBISHNESS IN THE ATTITUDE OF THE DILETTANT.

Poetry For Today

AN OLD TIME CHRISTMAS.

THE damsel donned her kirtle sheen.
The hall was dressed with holly green.
Forth to the wood did merry men go
To gather in the mistletoe.
Then opened wide the baron's hall
To vassal, tenant, serf and all.
Power laid his rod of rule aside,
And ceremony doffed his pride.
The heir, with roses in his shoes,
That night might village partner chose;
The lord underdogging share.
The vulgar game of post and pair.
All hailed with uncontrollable delight
And general voice the happy night
That to the cottage as the crown
Brought tidings of salvation down.
The fire with well dried logs supplied
Went roaring up the chimney wide.
The huge hall table's oaken face,
Scrubbed till it shone, the day to grace,
Bore then upon its massive board
No mark to part the squire and lord.
Then was brought in the lusty brawn
By old blue coated serving man;
Then the grim boar's head frowned on high.
Crested with bay and rosemary.
Well can the green garbed ranger tell
How, when and where the monster fell;
What dogs before his death he tore
And all the baiting of the boar.
The wassail round in good brown bowls,
Garnished with ribbons, blithely trowls;
There the huge sirloin reeked; hard by
Plum porridge stood and Christmas pie.
Nor failed old Scotland to produce
At such high tides her savory goose.
Then came the merry maskers in
And carols roared with blithesome din.
If unmelodious was the song
It was a hearty note and strong.
Who lists may in their mumming see
Traces of ancient mystery.
White shirts supplied the masquerade,
And smutted cheeks the visors made.
But, oh, what maskers richly dight
Can boast of bosoms half so light?
England was merry England when Old Christmas brought his sports again.
'Twas Christmas broached the mightiest ale;

'Twas Christmas told the merriest tale.
A Christmas gambol oft would cheer
The poor man's heart through half the year.

—Sir Walter Scott.

ECCENTRIC BUTCHER

New York, Dec. 13.—Details of the manner in which Anna Auxmuller met her death at the hands of Hans Schmidt, the priest, were told to the jury at his trial for murder. Three witnesses were heard, including Dr. Arnold Leo, who was Schmidt's physician. Dr. Leo said he had treated Schmidt, who complained of severe pains in the head. He thought the priest at least eccentric. He advised Schmidt against marrying Anna, saying the latter was not his social or mental equal.

Two police witnesses followed and gave damaging testimony in the form of a confession made by Schmidt the night of his arrest. Schmidt failed to show the slightest interest in the proceedings. The knife and saw used were offered in evidence. Throughout the confession made to the police Schmidt contended that his act had been directed by St. Elizabeth and that he had killed Anna because he loved her.

DIXIE'S SHARE WOULD BE CUT

Special National Republican Convention, To Be Held Next Year, Favorable by Members of the National Republican Congressional Campaign Committee — The Present Plan of Apportionment.

Washington, Dec. 13.—The Republican national congressional campaign committee went as record here as favoring a special national convention of the Republican party next year and endorse three plans as suggestions for reapportionment of delegate representation to future conventions.

It was resolved by the committee, called together by its chairman, Representative Woods of Iowa, that in its judgment "A special national convention of the Republican party should be held as soon as practicable, for the purpose of taking action relative to the apportionment of delegates to the national nomination conventions of the party; to the unit of representation; to the full recognition of the primary laws of the various states pertaining to the election of delegates and members of the national committee, and the time when the latter shall take office and to such other matters as may seem desirable."

This resolution will be submitted to the Republican national committee, which meets here next Tuesday, together with the plans suggested for reapportionment of the delegates to national conventions.

The present plan of apportionment of delegates, based on population, provides for four delegates-at-large in congress and two delegates from each congressional district. The present delegate representation in a national convention is 1,062.

Under the reapportionment scheme and the alternates suggested, representation from the southern states would be diminished and in some of the other states it would be increased. For example, under plan No. 1, Alabama would be reduced from 24 to 15 delegates; Arkansas from 18 to 12; Georgia from 28 to 18; South Carolina from 18 to 11, and other southern states accordingly. New York would be increased from 90 to 102; Massachusetts from 36 to 44; Illinois from 58 to 61, and so on.

TO END EXECUTIONS

Cleveland, O., Dec. 13.—Major Newton D. Baker asserted that the execution of Frank Kinney at Columbus will be the last in Ohio if he can have his way. He said that he will at once commence a fight to obtain a repeal of the capital punishment statute, that he will initiate the necessary legislation himself, if need be, and will take the stump to support the movement. The mayor was among those who made an eleventh-hour appeal to Governor Cox to reprieve Kinney.

LIMITS ORGIES

Cleveland, O., Dec. 13.—Restaurant and cafe owners who have reaped rich New Year's harvest in past years will experience a falling off in business this year. Chief of Police Rewe stated that watch parties will be allowed to remain at their tables not more than 15 or 20 minutes after midnight upon the advent of 1914. The ordering of champagne before the midnight hour, to be gurgled during the early hours of the morning, will not be permitted.

CROWDING JOHN B.

Washington, Dec. 13.—Secretary Bryan said that so far as he knew Minister Hale at San Jose, Costa Rica, had made no representations to the Costa Rican government regarding a contract for exploitation of oil lands made by that government with the Pearson firm of London. This is the Cowdry firm, which has large oil concessions in Mexico and which sought similar concessions in Colombia and Ecuador.

PATRIOTIC, ALRIGHT

San Francisco, Dec. 13.—Francis J. Heney will run for governor of California if Governor Johnson decides to be a candidate for the United States senate to succeed Senator Perkins. He takes this position, he says, on his own initiative. Whatever Johnson decides, Heney will be a candidate either for the senate or the governor's chair until the polls close.

TOWN VOTES DRY

Steubenville, O., Dec. 13.—Toronto, Jefferson county, voted dry by 61 majority, the vote standing 531 dry to 470 wet. Eight saloons are voted out. Women worked at the polls for the dry cause.

The Fact Remains

No amount of misrepresentation by the peddlers of alum baking powders, no juggling with chemicals, or pretended analysis, or cooked-up certificates, or falsehoods of any kind, can change the fact that

Royal Baking Powder has been found by the official examinations to be of the highest leavening efficiency, free from alum, and of absolute purity and wholesomeness.

Royal Baking Powder is indispensable for making finest and most economical food.

IN THE MOVIES

New York, Dec. 13.—The family of Jessie McCann, who disappeared from her home in Flatbush, have arranged with a moving picture concern to put the girl's picture on a film roll. It is hoped that 10,000 of these films can be sent through the country next week. There will be portraits of the girl in different costumes. A description of the girl's appearance will be flashed on the screens together with the information that Robert G. McCann, the girl's father, offers $1,000 reward for any information which will lead to her recovery.

Besides suffering the distress of coughing, you regret the annoyance to those with whom you are brought in contact, and decide not to go out again while your cold lasts, causing yourself much inconvenience.

"Every winter," writes Mrs. M. O. Cross, Granbury, Texas, "I suffered with severe coughs and colds, but since using Dr. King's New Discovery, I have not been bothered or annoyed with either for over two years."

In Social Circles

MISS FLORENCE USTICK, SOCIETY EDITOR

A very elaborate six o'clock dinner, characterized by exceptional beauty in its appointments and altogether a notably brilliant affair in the young set, was given by Mr. Edwards Hopkins Friday evening.

The handsome home, radiant with hospitality and palms and splendid yellow chrysanthemums adding artistic embellishment, provided ideal setting for the coterie of pretty young girls, in vari-colored evening gowns, and their escorts.

The table was laid with twenty covers and the Christmas colors of scarlet and green were brilliantly effective in its beautiful decoration. The centerpiece was a cluster of crystal vases, filled with carnations, stevia and smilax, and linked together with crystal chains and garlands of smilax.

The place cards were suggestive of Christmas.

The five-course dinner was served amid a merry flow of conversation, to which the quartet of "Freshmen buds," although making their debut, were generous contributors.

Bright little toasts from each guest spiced the dinner, the popular young host acting as toastmaster and bringing the toasts to a close with an original one, in which each guest figured. It was in rhyme and ex-

An unusual "case" was filed in the Clerk of Courts office Saturday morning, which had previously been in the Probate Court's office.

A small cabinet was located in the clerk's office, but it was transferred to the court stenographer's office and the big case takes its place in the clerk's office.

INTERESTING REPORT ON RELIGIOUS CENSUS

PARTIAL REPORT SHOWS THAT OUT OF 3819 PERSONS IN WASHINGTON, 2030 ARE MEMBERS OF CHURCHES AND GREAT MANY OF THE OTHERS ARE INCLINED TOWARD ONE OF THE VARIOUS CHURCHES—FEW FAILED TO OBTAIN INFORMATION DESIRED.

The following figures have been announced to date, showing the number of members so far listed in each church, and the preference of those who are not members.

	Members.	Preference
Presbyterian	456	113
Methodist	844	320
Baptist	167	83
Christian	262	150
Catholic	75	7
Other denominations	226
Non-members		1116
Total	2030	1789

Of the number included in "other denominations", the membership is divided up among the Episcopal, United Brethren, Adventists, Scientists, M. P.'s, colored, etc.

And of the 1116 persons not holding membership in any church, a great many of them admitted that they had never attended church services in their lives.

Some of those making the canvass reported many unusual experiences, and some state that they saw small children who were barefooted during the recent cold weather. In a number of instances note was taken of this fact and an effort will be made to reach the youngsters through Santa Claus.

BIG WEEK FOR JEFFERSONVILLE

JANUARY 13TH TO 17TH TO WITNESS HOLDING OF ANNUAL CORN SHOW, FARMERS INSTITUTE, POULTRY SHOW AND DOMESTIC SCIENCE EXHIBITS—COMMITTEES WORKING HARD FOR GREATEST WEEK IN "JEFF'S" HISTORY.

The various committees are now planning to make the week of January 12th the greatest in Jeffersonville's history, for during that week the Farmer's annual Institute, the big corn show, poultry show and domestic science exhibition will be held in the hustling town, and everyone is standing on tip-toe with expectation.

There will be something doing from January 13th to and including the 17th, and big crowds are expected every day, and Jefferson hall will be taxed to its capacity and the show will probably cause an overflow into some other building.

The best exhibition of high class corn ever shown in the county and one of the best ever shown in central Ohio, is scheduled for the "big week".

The show will not be confined to Jefferson township alone. Jefferson township has outgrown that, and since some of the best corn in the world is produced there, some of the classes will be open to all. Here is a chance for other townships to walk in and see if they can outclass Jefferson.

Those in charge of the poultry exhibition are now working hard to make the poultry exhibit one of the best ever shown in the county. And they say they are going to make it the best. They have a habit of carrying out their plans at Jeffersonville.

Then comes the domestic science exhibit. Jeffersonville and Jefferson township women have long since imbued of the enthusiasm that makes the corn shows, farmers' institutes and other enterprises such decided successes, and their line of exhibits will be greater than ever.

But the Farmers' Institute will not be neglected for the other attractions. A good committee is looking after it, and a splendid program is being outlined, while two speakers classed among the best in the state, will be sent by the state.

TRANSPORT TO WANT HOME RULE AID REFUGEES QUESTION SETTLED

By Associated Press.

London, Dec. 13.—Every serious minded politician in England, if not the whole people, is anxious to see a settlement of the Home Rule question that will end the long drawn out battle between the two conflicting parties in Ireland, and most of the statesmen of the Kingdom, both those in active service and those who have retired, have been contributing something at least towards that end.

The Prime Minister and the English Unionist leaders to whom the people are looking to find a way out of the situation, which has become serious because of the threatened revolution of Ulster if the present bill is passed, and a still greater revolution involving the rest of Ireland if Home Rule is not granted, have therefore received lots of advice. Present indications are that the government will adopt, in its overtures to the Opposition, the course suggested by Lord MacDonnell and Sir Edward Grey, namely, Home Rule within Home Rule or administrative autonomy for Ulster province. There has been a great deal of talk of the temporary exclusion of Ulster from the operation of the bill, but this is not considered possible, mainly because both Irish parties are strongly opposed to a settlement on those lines.

The Nationalists first and all the time are for a United Ireland. This is a matter of sentiment just as much as it is a matter of revenue. The Unionists, on the other hand, feel that a temporary respite from Home Rule would remove none of the objections to the bill. Furthermore, they say to accept such a settlement would amount to the desertion of the Protestants living in the South of Ireland, who they contend are just as much opposed to Home Rule as are those of Ulster.

On the Government side the exclusion of the Protestant counties presents untold difficulties. In the first place the whole Home Rule bill would have to be recast and it is just possible that in attempting to do this the Government might entirely wreck the work of the last few years. Under the Parliament Act which, by curtailing the veto power of the House of Lords made Home Rule possible in the first place, the House of Commons cannot amend a bill after it has been once rejected by the Lords. It can, however, make suggestions to the Upper House, that he intended to study the opinions of the people and govern them more as America is governed, according to the general wishes and welfare.

According to the latest advices received at the navy department fighting continues at Tampico between federals and revolutionists without definite results. According to reports received here the federals have between 2,000 and 3,000 men in the city and the revolutionists between 5,000 and 6,000.

Representatives of the Constitutionists here predict the ultimate capture of the city by the revolutionists.

The Spanish holdings in Chihuahua city are among the largest in Mexico.

FURS COMMAND SPLENDID PRICES

Prices paid by dealers for the pelts of fur bearing animals running wild in this country, are extremely liberal and one or two trappers in the county make good wages in winter following his traps along the streams.

The mink is one of our most valuable animals, although other are as eagerly sought.

Below are given prices paid for four grades into which the skins are sorted by the expert buyers:

Mink	$5.50	$3.50	$2.50
Skunk	3.00	2.00	1.00
Red Fox	5.00	3.00	2.00
Grey Fox	2.00	1.50	1.00

Appropriate Christmas Presents.

"Have you decided on your presents for the boys yet, my dear?" asked Mr. Hendricks after the lads had left the breakfast table for school.

"Not quite all. But I have decided, William, that they shall all be given something useful. There is no use in wasting money on useless toys for them to break. And, by the way, we need a new rug for the parlor and a dozen tumblers, William."

"Ah, well, why not get the rug for George and give the tumblers to John?"

The Perennial Complaint.

"Now, my dear," said Mr. Younghusband to the partner of his joys, who was about to start forth on Christmas shopping bent, "get presents for all the family-in-law and buy a nice lot of things for the boys, but don't spend more than $100. We must live within our income."

"Why, George," replied the lady in an aggrieved tone, "you told me we had $200 this month—you know you did."

And Mr. Younghusband only sighed.

An Ancient Christmas Custom.

One of the oldest and for centuries one of the most popular of all Christmas usages is the singing of Christmas carols by parties of children or of young men and women, who go about from house to house for that purpose, being everywhere heartily welcomed and rewarded with money and Christmas good cheer. This custom is still largely observed in England, particularly in the country districts.

Rear Admiral Fletcher Reports That Americans and Other Foreigners Are in Danger Because of the Fighting at Tampico—Would Be Forced to Land Marines If Refugees Continued to Remain Ashore.

Washington, Dec. 13.—For the relief of 500 Americans and other foreigners, in danger because of the fighting at Tampico, Secretary of State Bryan called on the war department to send an army transport to the Mexican port at once. In accordance with Mr. Bryan's request the transport Sumner, now at Galveston, will leave at once for Tampico.

Mr. Bryan's request was based on the reports of conditions furnished the navy by Rear Admiral Fletcher. It was learned that Admiral Fletcher went so far as to say that either a ship must be sent for the relief of refugees on shore or he would have to land American forces if proper protection was to be given the foreign noncombatants. The British and German naval commanders at Tampico have already chartered vessels on which they have placed refugees of their respective nationalities. Admiral Fletcher has put 150 Americans on board the ships in his squadron at Tampico, but has no room for any of the 500 additional Americans and other foreigners gathered on shore in the neutral zone he has established near the water. The admiral said that while the guns of the Wheeling, Tacoma and Coster cover this neutral territory, adequate protection could not be afforded the refugees if they continue to remain on shore without the landing of armed forces.

According to the latest advices received at the navy department fighting continues at Tampico between federals and revolutionists without definite results. According to reports received here the federals have between 2,000 and 3,000 men in the city and the revolutionists between 5,000 and 6,000.

Representatives of the Constitutionists here predict the ultimate capture of the city by the revolutionists.

SPANISH PROTEST

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 13.—Cablegrams to the Spanish foreign office in Madrid, telegrams to the Spanish minister in Washington and Mexico City and appeals to the American state department were sent out by the vanguard of the Spanish colony from Chihuahua. The messages were formal protests against Villa's order banishing the Spanish residents of the city and state of Chihuahua from Mexico and against the confiscation of property owned by the Spaniards. The Spanish holdings in Chihuahua city are among the largest in Mexico.

Mercado Hemmed In.

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 13.—The rebels in Juarez announce that their advance army of 3,600 men are within 20 miles of Ojinaga, between General Mercado's command and the border, and that Mercado is completely headed off. They expect the artillery and reinforcements from Chihuahua city to come up behind Mercado in time to dispose of him while the troops now near Ojinaga are attacking Orozco, Salazar and Caraveo.

BATTLE STOPPED

EFFORT TO BEAUTIFY LINCOLN HIGHWAY

Mexico City, Dec. 13.—Rear Admiral Fletcher, commander of the American naval forces in Mexican waters, ordered the rebels and federals fighting at Tampico to cease firing, threatening to open upon them with the guns of the gunboat Wheeling if his order was not obeyed. Both sides complied with the order.

In Social Circles

MISS FLORENCE USTICK, SOCIETY EDITOR

A very elaborate six o'clock dinner, characterized by exceptional beauty in its appointments and altogether a notably brilliant affair in the young set, was given by Mr. Edwards Hopkins Friday evening.

The handsome home, radiant with hospitality and palms and splendid yellow chrysanthemums adding artistic embellishment, provided ideal setting for the coterie of pretty young girls, in vari-colored evening gowns, and their escorts.

The table was laid with twenty covers and the Christmas colors of scarlet and green were brilliantly effective in its beautiful decoration. The centerpiece was a cluster of crystal vases, filled with carnations, stevia and smilax, and linked together with crystal chains and garlands of smilax.

The place cards were suggestive of Christmas.

The five-course dinner was served amid a merry flow of conversation, to which the quartet of "Freshmen buds," although making their debut, were generous contributors.

Bright little toasts from each guest spiced the dinner, the popular young host acting as toastmaster and bringing the toasts to a close with an original one, in which each guest figured. It was in rhyme and exceedingly clever.

Music and informal dancing followed the dinner.

Assisting in the evening's hospitalities were Mrs. Austin F. Hopkins and her mother, Mrs. Ellen Jones.

The dinner guests were Misses Dorothy Fullerton, Ada Woodward, Lillian Davis, Bessie Casey, Lucy Edna Pine, Jeanette Weaver, Ruth Reid, Edith Worthington, Gretchen Willis and Kathleen Davis, Messrs. Paul and Robert Craig, Ervin Bailey, Albert Briggs, Wilbur Adams, Hubert Murray, Ralph Strobel, Paul Strevey, Orland Hays.

Miss Dorothy Fullerton entertained the T. M. T. club Friday afternoon.

The Friday Afternoon Bridge club was indebted to Mrs. J. A. Worrell for hospitable entertainment yesterday.

The third of the series of Terpsichorean club dances was a thoroughly pleasurable affair of Friday evening.

Thirty couples were in attendance and the music, furnished by Horstman, Kneisley and Ramsey was splendid.

Mr. Robert T. McElwain has returned to his home in Boston, Mass., after an extended visit at his old home in Good Hope.

Mrs. M. L. Dickey, of Bloomingburg, is at the Fayette hospital for special medical treatment.

Mrs. Richard Simpkins came over from Laurelvile this week to look after farm interests. She was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Logan Blackmore while here.

Mrs. S. F. Snider went to Springfield Saturday to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Siebert.

Mrs. Ella Montgomery and sister are spending the day in Columbus.

Mr. Lawrence Kelly was over from Dayton the past two days.

Mrs. Frank Perrill and son, Hugh, joined Mr. Perrill in Columbus for the day.

Miss Bertha Allen, of Cincinnati, is the guest of Miss Elizabeth Ballard. Miss Allen opens her class in fancy dances at the I. O. O. F. hall tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. William Fogle went to Dayton Saturday evening to be the guests of Mrs. Mary Brownell.

Messrs. E. W. Durflinger, Grant Hays, Ralph Penn, Dr. G. S. Hodson attended the Masonic meeting in Bloomingburg Friday night to see Hon. Humphrey Jones take the work.

FUNERAL OF ALICE SEXTON.

A simple funeral service was conducted over the remains of Miss Alice Sexton at the Memorial chapel in the Washington cemetery Saturday morning.

Rev. Vandegriff, of New Holland, officiated.

Acting as pallbearers were the nephews, Messrs. Frank, Cherry, Ralph and Orville Sexton, of South Solon; Mr. Ercel Speakman, of New Holland, and Mr. Herbert Jones, of Bloomingburg.

The brothers and sisters from a distance were Mrs. M. E. Thurston, accompanied by her husband, from Morrengi; Mr. Andy Sexton and his family, from South Solon; Mrs. Wm. Bruce, Mrs. J. N. Jones, Bloomingburg; Mrs. Sherman Speakman, New Holland.

SILVER MEDAL CONTEST HELD

A very interesting W. C. T. U. silver medal oratorical contest was held at Wesley Chapel on South Main street, Friday night, with a good attendance and deep interest taken in the program rendered.

Five contestants vied for the handsome prize. The contestants and their selections were: Lora Vincent, "The Gambler's Wife"; Marie Vance, "The Result of Treating"; Sarah Templin, "Ugly Sam"; Susie Tempin, "The Unexpected Happened"; Wilbur Wilson, "Farmer Dean's Conversion".

The judges—A. E. Henkle, B. E. Kelley and D. S. Craig, awarded the medal to Wilbur Wilson, and it was presented by Rev. Frederick Ross in a very pleasing address. The other contestants, three of whom were awarded the same number of points, were awarded handsome souvenirs for the part they had taken in the contest.

Interest was added to the program by two splendid piano numbers—the overture, "Zampa" and the Sextette from "Lucia"—by Mrs. B. E. Kelley; two solos by Miss Rogers, a duet by the Misses Kidd, and a reading by Paul Post.

A short song service was held before the contest, and Rev. Ross made a short address in relation to the simultaneous religious campaign.

Mrs. Tasso Post had charge of the program.

ELECTION HELD BY SONS OF VETERANS

At the regular meeting of Col. B. H. Millikan Camp, No. 50, Sons of Veterans, Friday night, the annual election of officers was held, W. S. Hutchinson being elected commander; C. M. Johnson, secretary; Joe Murphy, Sherman Bishop and Lon Thompson, council. All other officers were re-elected.

The work of ascertaining the location of the graves of unknown soldiers and marking them, is one of the tasks upon which a committee of the Sons of Veterans is at work.

CLERK OF COURTS HAS LARGE CASE

An unusual "case" was filed in the Clerk of Courts office Saturday morning, which had previously been in the Probate Court's office.

The case in question is a huge file case which for a great many years has been in use in the Probate Judge's office, but since the installation of new steel cases the massive walnut case has been discarded.

A small cabinet was located in the clerk's office, but it was transferred to the court stenographer's office and the big case takes its place in the clerk's office.

400 B. & O. MEN ARE FURLoughED

Friday four hundred employees of the B. & O. shops in Chillicothe were furloughed for an indefinite period, and only 200 men were left on duty, the laying off at this time of the year makes it unusually hard on the men and their families.

Officials of the road state that it is absolutely necessary to lay off the men to meet the increased expenses due to a demand for increased wages made and acceded to by the company.

During the past few days the Pennsylvania system has furloughed 10,000 employees for the same reason.

HIGHLAND NOW HAS ASSOCIATION

At a meeting held in the court house at Hillsboro, Saturday, J. S. Sackett and others succeeded in organizing the Highland County Fish and Game Protective Association.

Funeral services Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, followed by burial in the cemetery at Milledgeville.

Every one knows that a fitting sentiment to go with a gift greatly enhances its value. Here is a very old one, which is appropriate for nearly every individual, and is consequently a safe one to use; it is in the quaint old spelling, which is attractive in fancy lettering:

All sole and jollie wait on thy holiday;
True love and friendliness
Hallow thy happiness.

One a little more sentimental goes well with flowers or a plant:

Fond thoughts and constant prayers I scatter
free,
Like flowers, along the pathway thou must tread,
Grateful and glad if haply they may shed
Some fragrance to refresh and comfort thee.

The last one, which is by Tennyson, is beautiful inscribed in a book or to go with a calendar:

The time draws near the birth of Christ;

The moon is hid; the night is still;

The Christmas bells from hill to hill

Answer each other in the mist.

THE CHRISTMAS LOVER.

TIS love that makes the stars revolve;
Tis love that makes the world go round.

This Christmas make purpose I resolve
On earth to make love more abund.

On me, dear maid, thy love bestow

And match my full heart's overflow.

NOR gem nor gear to thee I bring,
Nor gauds nor merchandises rare.

Love's offerings I may not sing,

But love itself I have to spare

In boundless store, and all for thee,

If but thy heart responds to me.

Ever since the city planning idea has become popular it has been the ambition of those interested in civic uplift to see the establishment of an international city laid out along the city planning scheme. JOE TINKER

Central Figure in Deal Between Brooklyn and Cincinnati Clubs.

TINKER SOLD TO BROOKLYN

New York, Dec. 13.—Joseph Tinker, the deposed manager of the Cincinnati Reds and one of the greatest shortstops in baseball, was sold to the Brooklyn club for $25,000. President Herrmann of the Reds has agreed to give $10,000 of the purchase money to Tinker when he signs a Brooklyn contract calling for a salary of $7,500. This is the written agreement which was drawn up and signed in the presence of a crowd of baseball men.

President Herrmann and Secretary Foster of the Giants put through a deal by which Infelder Charley Herzog and Catcher Grover Hartley were traded for Outfielder Bob Bescher. Herzog, it is believed, will be the manager of the Cincinnati team. Bescher is one of the best basestealers in the National league.

"I haven't been traded to Cincinnati to manage the team but merely to play ball in the ranks," said Herzog. "But I think if Herrmann will give me a chance I can make good. I believe I will be greatly benefited by the change. I couldn't play regularly under McGraw. In Cincinnati I will play either shortstop or third base."

Hartley is a first-class young catcher but he never had much of a chance here.

EIGHT INVOLVED

New York, Dec. 13.—A deal between the Pittsburgh Pirates and the St. Louis Cardinals, involving the exchange of eight ball players, was put through here. The Cardinals traded First Baseman Ed Konetchy, Third Baseman Mike Mowrey and Pitcher Bob Harmon to the Pirates for First Baseman Jack Miller, Third Baseman Al Dolan, Shortstop Arthur Butler, Pitcher Rube Robinson and Outfielder Wilson. There was no cash on either side.

Good Old Santa Goes To Many Odd Places

GOOD old Santa Claus looks in upon pretty nearly everybody at Christmas time, and the festival of which he is patron is celebrated in some very odd ways and out of the way places in our country.

At Ellis Island, in the harbor of New York, on Christmas day several hundred children, with their parents, usually await debarkation on the shores of America. There is a multitude of German "kinder," of Italian "bambinos" and of youngsters of every nationality, as much interested, all of them, in Christmas doings as any Yankee young folks could possibly be. It is indeed an occasion of great excitement for them, inasmuch as the missionary societies have provided for these humble aliens a wealth of good cheer, and, with the help of donations made for the purpose, the day is rendered joyful for all, both young and old, boys being plentifully distributed among the little ones.

The loneliest places in the world are some of the lighthouses which our government maintains along the coast for the protection of mariners. Yet Santa Claus finds his way to them, and in his honor a feast, even though it be a humble one, is held. It may be that the barren rock which the lighthouse marks affords room enough for the keeping of a dozen chickens, the fattest of which are suitably sacrificed.

But even this is not practicable in such a spot as Boon Island, off the coast of Maine, a dangerous bit of terra firma which is continually swept by the waves. Only a few years ago, so the story goes, a little girl four years of age, daughter of the keeper of Boon light, was so distressed because her father had been prevented by continual storm from going to the mainland for the customary Christmas goose that she stole out of the lighthouse at night and knelt in a sheltered spot to pray.

"Dear God," she said, "please send us a goose for our Christmas dinner!" Hardly had she spoken the words when a great wild goose flew (as sometimes happens in such places) against the big lantern above and fell dead at her feet, to be promptly carried in and presented to the family as a bird literally sent from heaven.

Uncle Sam maintains about fifty lightships along the seacoasts and on the lakes to mark dangerous shoals. Lonely indeed are the skippers and crews of these vessels, which, like the fabled phantom ship, pursue voyages that have no end, continually buffeted by storms. Yet Christmas is not forgotten. A brace of wild ducks, perchance, may be secured for the feast, and the cook will surely provide a liberal dish of the much appreciated "plum duff"—a preparation of pastry shaped like half a watermelon, which, in order that all the raisins it contains may not fall into one slice, requires, under the rules, to be cut "fore and aft."

It that far flung archipelago known as the Aleutian chain, which, reckoned geographically as a part of Alaska, stretches across the northern Pacific, Russian customs are still retained to a great extent, though the islands belong to the United States.

But, speaking of Alaska, it is a fact curious enough that Santa Claus in real life is seen there at Christmastide as nowhere else in the world, with his reindeer. The superintendents or the reindeer stations, established by the government for the benefit of the natives, harness the tamest of their animals and, hitching them to a sleigh filled with bags containing provisions, tobacco and other desirable things, drive through the Eskimo villages and leave at each humble hut one of the sacks as a reminder that the Christ Child, about whom these poor people have learned from the missionaries, is born.—Los Angeles Times.

"A Merry Christmas." A merry Christmas is the wish I send thee from my heart, A life all full of love, in which no sorrow finds a part. Or, If some pain fall to thy lot, love guarded though it be, May he who came at this glad time then make it blessed to thee. Sound over all waters, reach out from all lands, The chorus of voices, the clasping of hands; Sing hymns that were sung by the stars of the morn; Sing songs of the angels when Jesus was born!

—Whittier.

"IT IS NO LONGER LEGAL" to label NARCOTIC preparations as free from harmful agents, says Dr. Lyman B. Keeler, Chief of U. S. Bureau of Chemistry. Any reputable druggist will inform those afflicted with piles that all of the old preparations are filled with harmful narcotic drugs.

E-RU-SA FILE REMEDY is the only non-narcotic, non-poisonous and real pile cure. The most reliable druggists in Washington Court House sell E-RU-SA, namely: Blackmer & Tanquary, A. T. Balwin and Christopher Drug Stores.

TRANSPORT TO WANT HOME RULE AID REFUGEES QUESTION SETTLED

By Associated Press.

Rear Admiral Fletcher Reports That Americans and Other Foreigners Are in Danger Because of the Fighting at Tampico—Would Be Forced to Land Marines If Refugees Continued to Remain Ashore.

Washington, Dec. 13.—For the relief of 500 Americans and other foreigners, in danger because of the fighting at Tampico, Secretary of State Bryan called on the war department to send an army transport to the Mexican port at once. In accordance with Mr. Bryan's request the transport Sumner, now at Galveston, will leave at once for Tampico.

Mr. Bryan's request was based on the reports of conditions furnished the navy by Rear Admiral Fletcher.

It was learned that Admiral Fletcher went so far as to say that either a ship must be sent for the relief of refugees on shore or he would have to land American forces if proper protection was to be given the foreign noncombatants. The British and German naval commanders at Tampico have already chartered vessels on which they have placed refugees of their respective nationalities. Admiral Fletcher has put 150 Americans on board the ships in his squadron at Tampico, but has no room for any of the 500 additional Americans and other foreigners gathered on shore in the neutral zone he has established near the water. The admiral said that while the guns of the Wheeling, Tacoma and Coaster cover this neutral territory, adequate protection could not be afforded the refugees if they continue to remain on shore without the landing of armed forces.

According to the latest advices received at the navy department fighting continues at Tampico between fedals and revolutionists without definite results. According to reports received here the fedals have between 2,000 and 3,000 men in the city and the revolutionists between 5,000 and 6,000.

Representatives of the Constitutionists here predict the ultimate capture of the city by the revolutionists.

SPANISH PROTEST

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 13.—Cablegrams to the Spanish foreign office in Madrid, telegrams to the Spanish minister in Washington and Mexico City and appeals to the American state department were sent out by the vanguard of the Spanish colony from Chihuahua. The messages were formal protests against Vilas's order banishing the Spanish residents of the city and state of Chihuahua from Mexico and against the confiscation of property owned by the Spaniards. The Spanish holdings in Chihuahua city are among the largest in Mexico.

FURS COMMAND SPLENDID PRICES

Prices paid by dealers for the pelts of fur bearing animals running wild in this country, are extremely liberal and one or two trappers in the county make good wages in winter following his traps along the streams.

The mink is one of our most valuable animals, although other are as eagerly sought.

Below are given prices paid for four grades into which the skins are sorted by the expert buyers:

Appropriate Christmas Presents.
"Have you decided on your presents for the boys yet, my dear?" asked Mr. Hendricks after the lads had left the breakfast table for school.

"Not quite all. But I have decided, William, that they shall all be given something useful. There is no use in wasting money on useless toys for them to break. And, by the way, we need a new rug for the parlor and a dozen tumblers, William."

"Ah, well, why not get the rug for George and give the tumblers to John?"

The Perennial Complaint.
"Now, my dear," said Mr. Younghusband to the partner of his joys, who was about to start forth on Christmas shopping bent, "get presents for all the family-in-law and buy a nice lot of things for the boys, but don't spend more than $100. We must live within our income."

"Why, George," replied the lady in an aggrieved tone, "you told me we had $200 this month—you know you did."

And Mr. Younghusband only sighed.

An Ancient Christmas Custom.
One of the oldest and for centuries one of the most popular of all Christmas usages is the singing of Christmas carols by parties of children or of young men and women, who go about from house to house for that purpose, being everywhere heartily welcomed and rewarded with money and Christmas good cheer. This custom is still largely observed in England, particularly in the country districts.

WHEN A FELLOW NEEDS A FRIEND.

—Briggs in Chicago Tribune.

AMERICAN IDEA APPEALS TO HIM

By Associated Press.

Madrid, Dec. 13.—American ideas of government are to be followed to a certain extent by Eduardo Dato, the new Spanish Premier. Without announcing any fixed programme, Senor Dato declared, on taking office, that he intended to study the opinions of the people and govern them more as America is governed, according to the general wishes and welfare.

On the Government side the exclusion of the Protestant counties presents untold difficulties. In the first place the whole Home Rule bill would have to be recast and it is just possible that in attempting to do this the Government might entirely wreck the work of the last few years. Under the Parliament Act which, by curtailing the veto power of the House of Lords made Home Rule possible in the first place, the House of Commons cannot amend a bill after it has been once rejected by the Lords. It can, however, make suggestions to the Upper House, which the latter is at liberty to amend, reject or accept.

In this case it would be necessary to amend the financial provisions of the bill; for was Ulster excluded, Nationalist Ireland would require a bigger grant from the Imperial exchequer. Now the House of Lords has no control over financial matters and should it, on the suggestion of the House of Commons, amend the financial provisions of the bill, the question might be raised that it was a breach of privilege.

JOE TINKER

Central Figure in Deal Between Brooklyn and Cincinnati Clubs.

TINKER SOLD TO BROOKLYN

New York, Dec. 13.—Joseph Tinker, the deposed manager of the Cincinnati Reds and one of the greatest shortstops in baseball, was sold to the Brooklyn club for $25,000. President Herrmann of the Reds has agreed to give $10,000 of the purchase money to Tinker when he signs a Brooklyn contract calling for a salary of $7,500. This is the written agreement which was drawn up and signed in the presence of a crowd of baseball men.

President Herrmann and Secretary Foster of the Giants put through a deal by which Infielder Charley Herzog and Catcher Grover Hartley were traded for Outfielder Bob Bescher. Herzog, it is believed, will be the manager of the Cincinnati team. Bescher is one of the best basestealers in the National league.

"I haven't been traded to Cincinnati to manage the team, but merely to play ball in the ranks," said Herzog. "But I think if Herrmann will give me a chance I can make good. I believe I will be greatly benefited by the change. I couldn't play regularly under McGraw. In Cincinnati I will play either shortstop or third base."

Hartley is a first-class young catcher but he never had much of a chance here.

EIGHT INVOLVED

New York, Dec. 13.—A deal between the Pittsburgh Pirates and the St. Louis Cardinals, involving the exchange of eight ball players, was put through here. The Cardinals traded First Baseman Ed Konetchy, Third Baseman Mike Mowrey and Pitcher Bob Harmon to the Pirates for First Baseman Jack Miller, Third Baseman Al Dolan, Shortstop Arthur Butler, Pitcher Rube Robinson and Outfielder Wilson. There was no cash on either side.
